

Increase Patron ebook Usage With Great Indie Reads

Library Journal's SELF-e Select brings you the best small press and self-published ebooks. Available to all your patrons, all the time.

Through BiblioBoard, your library can have access to a service that curates collections of the best self-published and small press books at a fraction of the cost of traditional ebooks. Rather than buying overpriced ebooks that can only be read by one patron at a time, your library can get all of this through a fixed-price subscription that is based on your library size. With SELF-e Select, your library can make indie books available to patrons in an easy, economical way that you can feel confident about.

Trusted Curation

With the current influx of indie ebooks, it can be nearly impossible for your library to decide which ones are worth obtaining for your patrons. With these collections, you don't have to!

Library Journal carefully vets each submission and chooses the very best to include in the SELF-e Select product. Then, your library is able to choose which of these genre-based collections should be available for your patrons via BiblioBoard's sleek, unlimited multi-user platform. The best part? You can feel confident about the quality of these indie ebooks while knowing that the collections will continue to grow alongside your patrons' reading appetites.
